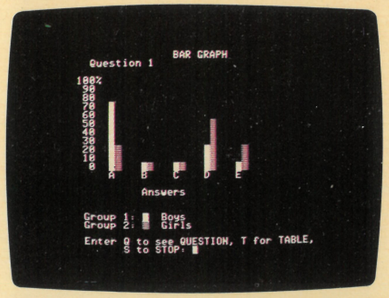
SURVEY TAKER™



If you ask the right questions, you'll be able to spot the next trend before anyone else.

Now you can use your computer to take your own private opinion poll and analyze the results. You can use your poll to find out who's the most popular rock star, which candidate has the best chance to be elected or anything else you want to know.

You can make up as many as fifty questions, with up to five answers for each question. If you're very careful about the questions you ask, you'll be able to predict all sorts of things about your family and friends and the world you live in.

You can poll as many people as you want. In fact, the more people, the more accurate your survey. And once you're finished, the computer will tabulate all the results, and even show them to you in tables and colorful graphs.

Learning Opportunities

SURVEY TAKER introduces children to survey procedures and research skills, encourages logical thinking and stimulates deductive reasoning. It also helps develop oral and written communication.
